

If you can build it, we can estimate it

With accuracy, accountability and real-world experience, Costing Services Group (CSG) partners with project owners and designers through every step of their project, from inception to completion.

WHY COSTING SERVICES GROUP?

Knowledge Through Experience

Our employees all have industry-specific degrees and practical experience as contractors, construction managers, engineers or architects, so we understand every aspect of the business. We ask the right questions and conduct custom, market-specific research for each project in order to provide the most accurate estimate.

Accuracy Through Quality Control

Our market survey allows us to fully understand your project's pricing characteristics and local market conditions. From there, quality control is most important because that leads to more accurate estimates – we always have at least two senior estimators review every estimate before it is presented.

Partnering Through Every Step

Collaboration is important to us. It's our goal to be with you through each phase of your project, including between formal design phases. That's why we never require appointments; call us anytime and speak to someone on our team directly.

Full Transparency

Our exclusive Expanded Component format provides clients with a clear view of costs and the value of individual building components.* We're impartial; as a third party, we work with objectivity to provide cost estimation based solely on calculations and market conditions, not an agenda.

*(We can report in any required format.)

On Budget, On Time

As experienced professionals in the construction industry, we value the importance of staying within budget. We also understand that projects have strict timelines and it's our priority to ensure those are adhered to throughout your project.
